

Greetings:

At Ponce Research Institute (PRI), a non-profit organization, which is affiliated to Ponce Health Sciences University (PHSU), we are committed to facilitating faculty members, alumni, community physicians, healthcare professionals, and students with the best research and education in the academic health field in the Southern region of Puerto Rico for over 40 years. Medical sciences are continuously changing, and these rapid advances in the basic sciences, behavioral sciences and relevant clinical trials require us to be aware of new trends in the medical field.

Ponce Research Institute is the major site for medical research in southern Puerto Rico and one of the main sites in the Island. Last year, during the 16th Scientific Conference, 108 research projects were presented. In order to disseminate our research findings to the community, we have scheduled the 17th Annual Scientific Conference of Ponce Health Sciences University-Ponce Research Institute to be held on May 7, 2022, at the Hilton Ponce Golf & Casino Resort. The conference will be a full-day event regarding the research fields of Basic Sciences, Behavioral, Clinical Cases, Clinical Studies and Public Health.

Ponce Research Institute is honored to invite (Company), to be a sponsor of this important event! We believe our Annual Scientific Conference is an excellent opportunity to receive exposure in the research field and interact with our active and future investigators regarding new projects and technologies to be incorporated currently or in the future.

We look forward to hearing from you. For more information about this event, please contact Maria Santiago at 787.840.2575, ext. 4746 or at marsantiago@psm.edu.

On behalf of Ponce Research Institute, we are grateful for your support. See below our offers of sponsorship.

Kenira J. Thompson, Ph.D.
